

RULE 1110.2 TASK FORCE MEETING

Diamond Bar, CA

April 23, 2015

Purpose of the Meeting

- Discussion on proposed amendments to Rule 1110.2
 - Extension of the current January 1, 2016 compliance deadline
 - Additional deferment with payment of a compliance flexibility fee
 - EPA SIP approvability issue regarding rule enforceability for breakdowns

Extension of Compliance Deadline (Overview)

- PAR 1110.2 (d)(1)(C) would extend the compliance deadline to January 1, 2017
- New provision in PAR 1110.2 (d)(1)(F) only for demonstration project engines that commenced before January 1, 2015
 - Extension to January 1, 2018
 - Does not apply to other engines at the same or other location

Alternate Compliance Option (Overview)

- Updated provisions in Rule 1110.2 (h)
- Deferment to January 1, 2018 with payment of a fee
- Plan and fee 60 days prior to compliance date in Table III-B
- Does not apply to demonstration project engines

Alternate Compliance Option (Proposed Rule Language)

- “In lieu of complying with the applicable emission limits by the effective date specified in Table III-B, owners or operators of biogas-fired units, except those subject to subparagraph (d)(1)(F), may elect to defer compliance up to January 1, 2018, provided the owner or operator:
 - Submits an alternate compliance plan and pays a Compliance Flexibility Fee, as provided for in paragraph (h)(2), to the Executive Officer at least 60 days prior to the applicable compliance date in Table III-B”

Alternate Compliance Option

- Plan Submittal requirements are essentially the same as under the current rule, with the exception of:
 - Number of years of Compliance Flexibility Fee applicability will be one

EPA Issues

- Resolution needed for a SIP approvability issue pertaining to rule enforceability
- Rule 1110.2, subclause (f)(1)(D)(v)(I-III)
- Currently, reported breakdowns that result in an emissions exceedance are not considered a violation
- Proposed Resolution:
 - Restrict breakdown and non-compliant emission checks to 2 incidences per calendar quarter

Tentative Schedule

- Public Workshop
 - 2nd Quarter 2015
- Public Hearing
 - September 4, 2015
